Global Trends

Oil steady ahead of the US stockpile data; volatility declines

Oil remains steady ahead of the release of weekly inventory data from the US that may show another rise in the nationwide crude inventories.

Brent was little changed near USD85.4/bbl after a low-volume session due to a US holiday, while West Texas Intermediate was above USD81/bbl. The US Energy Information Administration will release the snapshot later Thursday one day after it's usually scheduled with an industry report signaling a gain.

Oil remains on course for a monthly gain after OPEC+ extended supply cuts and said that any subsequent plan to return barrels would hinge on market conditions. Traders are also tracking the demand outlook, with refineries in Asia bringing back some capacity after maintenance despite poor margins. Gauge of volatility for Brent crude declines to six-year low.

Saudi became the top borrower among emerging markets, surpassing China

Saudi Arabia has displaced China as the most prolific issuer of international debt among emerging markets, breaking Beijing's 12-year run at the top. The Kingdom accelerates global borrowing to drive Vision 2030, whilst Chinese international-bond sale was 68% lower than five-year average.

Data for new-bond sales by both governments and corporates this year reveal the kingdom is borrowing at a record pace as global debt investors begin to back Crown Prince's Mohammed bin Salman's Vision 2030 plan. Chinese borrowers, on the other hand, are witnessing a buying frenzy in local-currency bonds and have slowed international issuance to one of the slowest paces in recent years.

US retail sales barely changed in a sign of strain on consumers

US retail sales barely rose in May and prior months were revised lower, pointing to greater financial strain among consumers.

The value of retail purchases, unadjusted for inflation, increased 0.1% after a downwardly revised 0.2% drop in the prior month, Commerce Department data showed Tuesday. Excluding gasoline, sales rose 0.3%. Of the 13 categories tracked by the Commerce Department, five showed declines as gasoline prices were cheaper in the month and furniture outlets offered discounts for Memorial Day. The figures underscore a notable downshift in consumer spending after stronger readings earlier in the year. Economists expect a moderate pace of spending going forward as Americans exercise greater prudence given persistent inflation.
